

As a subscriber to XM radio, I pay for the variety and lack of advertising this quality service provides. I benefit greatly from all its services, including weather and traffic channels.

I am disturbed that the National Association of Broadcasters is trying to limit the services XM radio can provide, especially the instant traffic and weather reports. Why should they have a monopoly on broadcasting this type of valuable information?

It would make just as much sense for the National Association of Broadcasters to try to limit access to NOAA's weather broadcasts on special weather radios. I just can't understand why the NAB should be allowed to dictate what I am able to listen to on a service I pay for.

I urge the FCC to reject the NAB's petition 04-160.

Thank you,
Lynn Stephenson
